Having seen me this morning in an emotional state over the recent events and the decision on switching me out of the Tower to the East end, Warren offered to take my place at the tower. It was discussed that I could then stay at the office to take care of documentations, e-mails, and some of the pertinent information that I have not had time to keep abreast of due to a busy field work schedule. I gladly took him up on his great gesture.

Once again, I had a long conversation with Bill Casey about the same topic and expressed my disappointment and dissatisfaction with the decision made, but the outcome remained the same.

- Read a few e-mails regarding my new assignment;
- Finished off checklist for strands 62, 63, and 64;
- Tended to the job photos and documentation;
